

Understanding lymphedema skin changes.¹

PAPILLOMATOSIS

Papillomas are raised wart-like growths, hard bumps/projections, that can appear with longstanding lymphedema.

HYPERKERATOSIS

An overgrowth of the skin, like a very thick callus, where skin easily flakes.

LYMPHORRHEA²

Skin breakdown, clear lymph fluid leaks externally, also called skin "weeping".

HYPERPIGMENTATION

Skin discoloration, in earlier stages can be salmon pink and darkens with progression, often to brown, purple or rusty in color.

ELEPHANTIASIS

Progressive enlargement of extremity, chronic fibrosis.
