1 in 8 men

Approximately one in eight men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer in their lifetimes.<sup>1</sup> Many of these men undergo radiation, surgery and chemotherapy to treat the cancer leaving them with lymphatic system damage known as lymphedema.

Veterans have been shown to have a higher rate of prostate cancer—one in five men<sup>2</sup>—and studies show lymphedema affects more than 20% of prostate cancer survivors who underwent radical prostatectomy.<sup>3</sup> Lymphedema is progressive and if left untreated, it could lead to permanent damage to surrounding tissue and lymph vessels.
